

mediterranean home

design

Editor's notes

The idea of first impressions being the best applies as much to your home as it does to individuals, and this is where a gorgeous entry makes a huge difference. A lovely entry starts outside your door and becomes an integral part of the home's bigger narrative, .

Introduction

Mediterranean-style homes, which resemble the aesthetic of Mediterranean villas, originated in the 1920s. During this period—the Roaring Twenties—people were consumed with wealth and leisure, resulting in the rise of seaside resorts in the United States.

Contents

01 Mediterranean Home

02 Living room

03 Relax room

01

Mediterranean Home

the house entrance

Mediterranean-style homes, which resemble the aesthetic of Mediterranean villas, originated in the 1920s. During this period—the Roaring Twenties—people were consumed with wealth and leisure, resulting in the rise of seaside resorts in the United States.

The idea of first impressions being the best applies as much to your home as it does to individuals, and this is where a gorgeous entry makes a huge difference. A lovely entry starts outside your door and becomes an integral part of the home's bigger narrative, .

mediterranean staircase

The Mediterranean design style is known for its grandiose structures and large interior spaces no matter what type of room it is applied on. This means that even an area such as the staircase and hallway, which are most commonly small spaces between the rooms, will appear as a space which is bigger than needed. But with this style, you also get something else when applied to the staircase.

You get a majestic looking piece of art right in the center of your home. And you will love it because you have to use it multiple times during the day which means that you'll be able to enjoy it quite often. The Mediterranean staircase design will also take care of the surrounding hallway by turning into something that you might think came out of a palace.

02

Living Room

Living Room colors

At the living room apart from white you should use such colors as acute turquoise, azure, light-blue, cobalt, bright yellow and citrine, light terra-cotta, flexen and sandy as well as light-green. The colors of sea and sun in accessorizes highlight the Mediterranean style on the back of neutral natural tones.

Living Room Decoration

One of the most popular decorating styles of the architectural and interior design world is the Mediterranean style. This luxurious and comfortable style brings influences of European eloquence, rustic décor, aqua blue and earthy color schemes combined with modern, traditional, and contemporary elements.

light and warm tones in color scheme, as well as the extensive use of natural materials such as ceramics, wood, wrought iron and cotton. Design combines boldness, simplicity and convenience.

03

Relax Room

Relaxing spot

Modern Mediterranean style interiors, decorated with cooling white decor & neutrals, ... with plain and patterned white pillows to give the room a more relaxed vibe.

relaxing room can be also a bedroom,
it depends on the person itself.

