

Linkin Park "Numb". It was released as the third single from their second studio album, Meteora (2003).

The lyrics reminds me tolerance changes people, however, at the same time they get forgiveness because human nature are always similar.

Léon (1994) originally released in the United States in 1994 was written and directed by Luc Besson. To me, this film is the most classic of love stories. The main characters fall in love without respective interests or a forced distribution of blood relations. They just love bravely and purely.

La dame aux camélias is a novel by Alexandre Dumas, first published in 1848, and subsequently adapted by Dumas for the stage. It made me realize that no matter what job did she do, she always be herself to face the love even if she revolts.
