RE: Interior Designer
Dear hiring manager,

I'm applying for the Interior Design Intern position, which I saw advertised on the Indeed website. I believe I meet all the essential criteria for the role and feel I can make an effective and immediate contribution to your team.

I got my certificate in interior design from BCIT and after that, I transferred to Lasalle College for a bachelor's degree. During that time I gained a lot of professional skills. Such as space planning, technical drawing, hand drawing skill, material selection, and so on.

I handled various responsibilities in my previous Interior Design Intern position and quickly established talents in prioritizing tasks, meeting deadlines, and finding solutions to eliminate obstacles. I learned how to go to the customer's site to measure, and also participated in the selection of materials and furniture, and finally made a display booklet to show the selection of customer's home furniture, lightings, and materials. My career has enabled me to develop and establish skills in such key areas:

- Product Specification
- Concept Development
- Visual Product Development

I am grateful for the opportunities afforded me in my prior position, and I'm ready to put those skills to use for your company. I am looking forward to new challenges, collaborating with a fresh team of talented professionals.

I've attached my resume with additional details of my work experience and qualifications. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,
Kejun
