
NATALIA RAQUEL PADRÓN RHENALS

PROFILE

Recently graduated in fashion Design and Pattern. I'm quite passionate about art and fashion, their construction and being able to study not only design but also pattern making has helped me to understand not only the creative process, but the production process. I think that most designers don't know much about patternmaking or even sewing; they are occupied sourcing the creative projects, but I think it is important to know both because when you know how everything operates you are not only able to do more creative designs, but also you are able to make your team understand your ideas better.
