Iridescent is a collection inspired by colors and nature. Color, in itself, is | the elixir of life; the essence that defines us to each one. It expresses feelings, emotions and stories.

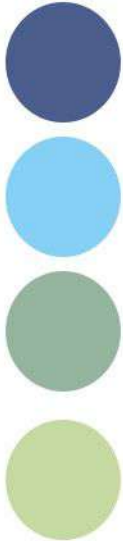

Another factor that has led to the creation of this collection is the fact that we live in a submissive society in black and white. Since the beginnings of fashion, black and white have been the purest and most elegant colors, the colors of the year or the most versatile for dressing.

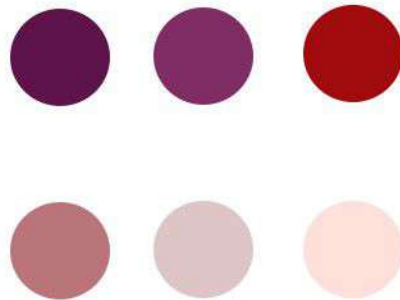

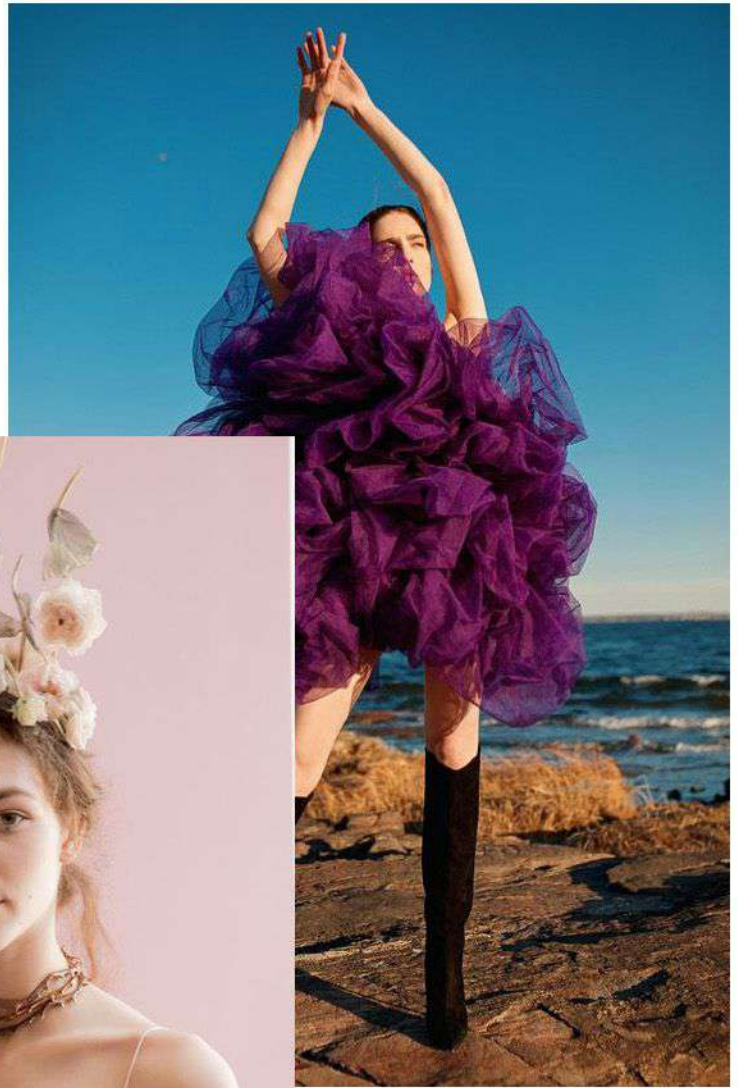

That's why I want to make an impact on the cessation and change the emmality that waring colors is also able to go smart it's easy at the time.

It is dedicated to all hopeful women, fighters, self-esteem, joyful, elegant, those who think differently. All those who want a life full of colors and have a very positive and eccentric life expectancy.

Alexander McQueen was one of the most eccentric, savage and surrealist designers there has been.

His collections fascinated me from the beginning. Being able to convey so many emotions with only clothes is truly a gift. Since I've discovered it, I understand fashion as art and not just well-sewn pieces of fabric.

I was inspired by one of his collections and I tried to take it to my own style. From there came an elegant and simple dress and without leaving the essence of McQueen.

My first project about fashion is thanks to Alexander McQueen.
