Women's TREND REPORT

This fall, we are changing ordinary piece to extraordinary ones. classic tones, mixing patterns and detail is a must. From vintage inspired pieces to modern tailored looks. Designers have drawn inspiration from styles throughout history in order to create unique looks for the season.

URBAN JUNGLE

There were heavy tribal influences on the FW15 runways. Designers drew inspiration from fashion both past and present in order to create unique looks that combined unexpected pieces to give a fresh new perspective on contemporary fashion. These heavily embellished outfits inspired by an oil spill colour palette are perfect for a woman in the big city.

PINK TARTAN

WITH HER HUSBAND NEW DRAGONS DEN JUDGE JOE MIMRAN CHEERING FROM THE FRONT ROW, KIMBERLEY NEWPORT-MIMRAN MARCHED A PACK OF GLAMOROUS, MONASTIC MODELS DOWN THE RUNWAY OF HER PINK TARTAN SHOW AT WORLD MASTERCARD FASHION WEEK LAST WEEK.

"THE COLLECTION IS MODERN, ANDROGYNOUS AND POWERFUL, BUT STILL FEMININE", NEWPORT-MIMRAN SAID OF HER WARES, WHICH ECHOED AN ASIAN INFLUENCE. "I TRY TO MIX THAT ALL UP AND PUT IT ON THE RUNWAY HOPEFULLY IT WORKS."

LAURENCE DUCHAINE

With her young eye for fashion, Laurence has always been interested in reading fashion magazines and articles, learning new things and travelling. Now studying in Fashion Marketing at LaSalle College, we are thrilled to have her as a guest editor for this season.

ZEB KHERHERI

A student at LaSalle College, Zeba has always taken an interest in style. Whether it be in her own personal life or capturing others through a camera lens, she has a keen eye for fashion and we are happy to have her contribute this season.
