THE BRAND

Judith & Charles started with two people called, you guessed it: Judith and Charles. They met by chance while on vacation, fell in love, later on created the brand, and the rest is history. Judith was a talented young woman with a penchant for fashion and Charles was a seasoned entrepreneur. Neither had any experience in creating a clothing brand of their own. Judith & Charles's style could be described as classic with a fashionable twist. The designers strive for each of their outfits to have a timeless look, but to still be current with the times.

Judith says her inspiration comes from the power suits women wore as she was growing up. To her, they gave off too much of a manly appearance, thus inspiring her to create softer, more feminine professional attire. Judith & Charles's intent when designing clothes is to make a woman feel confident in herself and in her own abilities, rather than overpowered by her clothing. Thus, the brand's style is centered on that perfect balance of boldness and femininity in professional attire.

THE COLLECTION

The showcased collection is a current collection that is now carried in their boutiques. The clothing is a revival of the classic woman's pantsuit. As per Judith & Charles's style, despite suits being inherently men's work attire, the clothing in this collection give off a delicate, feminine appearance. This collection has pants galore and even a few short skirts to keep their brand trendy. Each piece emanates elegance and sophistication. Versatility is also key in this collection as you could confidently wear every outfit to a job interview or even to a classy party. Altogether, you will notice that every outfit remains tasteful and chic throughout the collection.
