DARKNESS

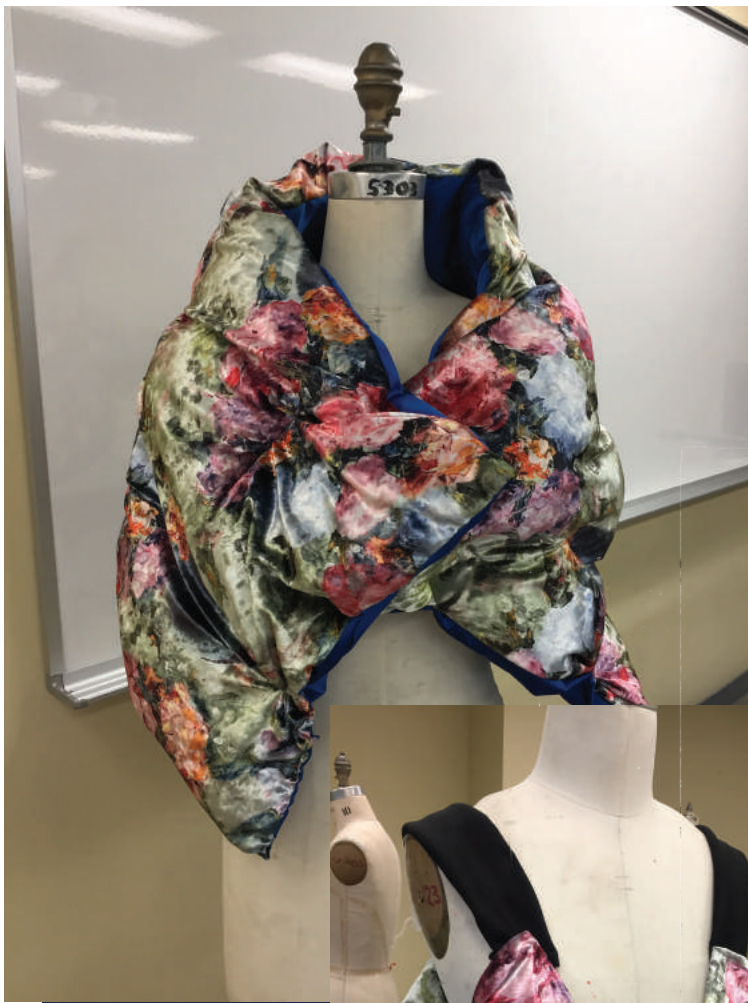

The reality that people are afraid on different levels to express their true selves by showing the imperfections, fears & insecurities the origin of most of our mental issues, which lead us to express ourselves differently, putting happy masks on to suppress our anxiety, our inner darkness.

EVIL

That's how I got into the idea of the combination of black and colourful splash for my design that is a representative of our inner darkness and the colourful outer we show to the world.

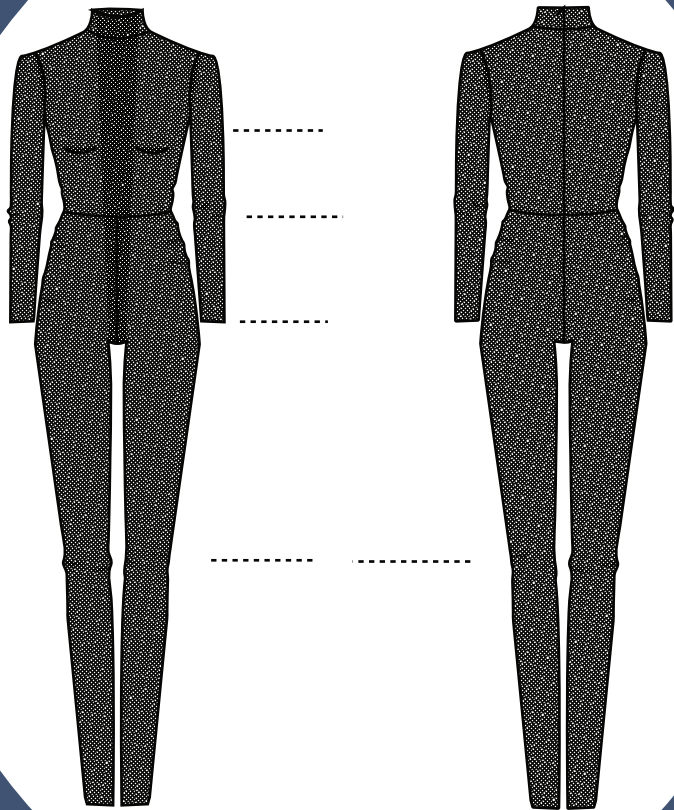

" Insecurities are hidden under the flawless presence"
