

Daniela Rincón

Footwear and Bags Designer

Hello! I'm an industrial designer and currently I live in Barcelona. I have experience in footwear and handbag design, processes of following samples and talking with suppliers. I have knowledge about trend research for making inspiration moodboards, passing through samples corrections until pre-shipment samples confirmation. Being an industrial designer has made me being more passionate about materials, their process and sustainability applying all this at footwear and handbags. I would like to be part of an environment where I can apply my knowledge, develop innovative / creative proposals and have a motivating atmosphere that is surrounded by high passion for this amazing field.
